What a Mess

By Pastor Christopher Martin

When I was serving in Pennsylvania, one evening the council secretary of our church in a rural area of Franklin County called “Little Cove” invited me to her home for dinner before one of our council meetings. The couple lived on a farm about two miles north of the church, in a home that had been in their family for several generations. After dinner, the council secretary and her husband showed me a photo album of a house fire that had occurred there about 6 years before I arrived. As she told the story about the fire, and its devastation, she shared with me the part of all of it she remembered the most. The day after the fire, after the fire had been put out, the dairy barn had been saved, and the fire crews had left, the pastor who was serving the church at the time came out to the farm, got out of his car, and was looking at the devastation from the fire. As he looked over the pile of ashes and the shell of the burned out home, the first thing he said to the family when he greeted them was: “Wow. What a mess!” As I sat there looking at those photos from that fire, and then looked around at the house after it had been rebuilt, it amazed me how that messy pile of burned out ashes and charred wood could have been turned into a beautiful home once again.

Every year during Lent, I think about that farmhouse in Little Cove, Pennsylvania and the transformation it went through, because it is a perfect reminder of what this season of the church year is all about for the Christian. When we take stock of our lives, and reflect on God’s expectations of us in His Word, we really don’t have much to be proud of, do we? We see the mess that sin has left in our lives, and in our world. People have tried to ignore it or cover it up by trying to either change the Scriptures to say something they don’t in an effort to excuse their sin, or outright ignore Scripture altogether and just try to act as if God isn’t real and doesn’t care about our sin.

But such efforts are about as effective as trying to slap a coat of paint on the charred remains of that farmhouse and say it's good. It doesn't work in the end. The mess is still there! And there's not a thing we can do. And if that is the message of Lent, our hearts and lives are a mess, and there's nothing we can do to change it, then there's no much hope, is there?

That's why during Lent, we remember the purpose of Jesus' passion, His suffering, His death, and His resurrection from the dead! It is in all of these things that we see how Jesus rebuilds our lives by cleaning our hearts that are filled with the mess of sin, and takes that mess upon Himself as He suffers the consequences of our sins through His passion and death, and then raises up from the ashes of death to new life! All of this Jesus does for us, so that we, too, might die to sin, but rise from the ashes to a new life.

As we make this annual journey through Lent, which began on when we gathered for worship on Ash Wednesday, and once again had our foreheads marked with ashes, we remember the reality of sin, and what it does to us, "remember that you are dust, and to dust you shall return." But you'll notice those ashes were drawn in the shape of the cross, reminding you that Ash Wednesday is only the beginning point of our journey, not the end. This year in our midweek services, we will follow Jesus to different places of the passion, and we will see how in each stop along the way to His cross, and the empty tomb of Easter, Jesus is at work for us, to take the curse of our sin away, and instead, give us the gift of forgiveness, life, and hope. We remember that Jesus is present in our lives, both in moments of joy, and in moments where it feels like we're standing amid the charred ruins of our lives, and everywhere in between. And when Jesus is present, we know that He's at work to bring life and redemption to every place He visits.

I want to encourage each of you to think of someone in your life who isn't connected to Jesus. Maybe it's someone you once saw regularly in the pews of our church, but haven't seen them in some time. Perhaps it's that coworker or neighbor who is going through a difficult time in their lives, and they are in need of the hope and redemption that only Christ can bring. Whoever that person might be, take this opportunity to invite them to come with you to midweek Worship, so that we can feed their body with our soup suppers, and feed their souls with fellowship, and worship. May our Lord Jesus richly bless your journey through Lent this year!

Places of the Passion Midweek Lenten Worship

We began our annual journey through Lent with Jesus on Ash Wednesday. Many of the scenes we visit throughout Lent are familiar to us: the Upper Room, the Garden of Gethsemane, the halls of Pontius Pilate, and the hill of Golgotha. We visit many of these places every year as we follow Jesus through His passion and death. However, we sometimes forget that when Jesus enters a place, He never leaves it as He found it. The most troubling places in our lives become the most amazing places of God's grace when Jesus visits them.

For this year's midweek Lenten worship series, we will be reading and considering Luke's account of the passion. Each week, Luke will take us to a place of the Passion. Our focus will not be so much on the physical places, but we will witness what Jesus does at each place. He will share strength in our moments of weakness and fill us with praise in the midst of sorrow. We will discover at each place we visit Jesus is waiting for us, willing to share with us a love that was set in place before the foundations of the world.

Our midweek Lenten services will rotate between the churches of our parish, as we take this opportunity to worship and fellowship with one another. Each service in the month of March will be preceded by a soup supper from 5:00-6:00pm and a hymn sing that will begin in the sanctuary at 6:15pm. The worship service will begin at 6:30pm.

Sunday School

The Sunday school year is going well and for the last several weeks had fun games and art projects that were associated with our New Testament lessons. Most recently, the children made a paper mache rock to symbolize Jesus telling Simon Peter that on this rock He will build His church (Matthew 16:13-25). It's never too late to join in the fun! Sunday School is for children 3 years old through 6th grade and meets each Sunday from 10:15-11:00am.

Livestreaming

Our Sunday morning worship services are livestreamed on the Hope Lutheran Church Facebook page each Sunday. If you would like to sponsor a worship service in honor or memory of a loved one, there is a sign-up sheet on the bulletin board in the narthex. The suggested donation is $50/service.

The Worship & Music Committee is working on upgrading the equipment used to livestream. Volunteers who do the videography are currently using their personal cell phones to livestream, which causes inconsistencies in the quality of the audio and video. This will be a significant technology investment. If you would like to help make this upgrade possible, monetary donations of any amount are welcome.
